Head Of Wine

mark-donohoe@classicdrinks.com

As Dave has noted above, we have worked hard over the last twelve months to bring you this newest edition of our wine portfolio.

At Classic Drinks our commitment is to work only with wines that offer excellent quality, be they at entry-level, mid-range, or high-end. We strive to offer you and your customers the best possible experience at all price points.

In addition to our range we have sought out small, producer-driven estates that make excellent wines at all levels of quality.

To our entry-level offering we have added simple yet delicious wines from Spain and Italy. The wines of La Baldaosa, El Volquette (p.96), Adacio, and Marchese Montefusco (p.72), all offer fantastic value for money. These easy-drinking organic wines (made of local grape varieties) offer you more options to serve by the glass and reward your customers for exploring something outside of the norm.

In Chablis we have added the wines of Domaine Gautheron (p.17). A small estate run by husband and wife team Cyril and Agnes, they produce crisp, complex, and elegant Chablis wines from village-level to Grand Cru. Situated in the Central Vineyards of the Loire Valley, the wines of Domaine Paul Thomas (p.33) showcase the very best of Sancerre and its subregions; Chavignol, Silex, and La Côte des Monts Damnés. These wines made from Sauvignon Blanc are smoky, fresh, and mineral.

Throughout the communes of Burgundy, Maison Edouard Delaunay (p.21) are masters of cultivating Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. They produce red wines that are light and layered with notes of fruit, pastry, minerality, and oak. Their white wines maintain their freshness while offering the complexity that all Burgundy lovers crave.

In Beaujolais, we are delighted to work with the wines of Alexandre Burgaud (p.27), a winemaker in the mould of celebrated producers; Foillard, Lappiere, and Breton. Alexandre makes a rich profile of Beaujolais in his low-intervention estate. These wines balance beautifully aromas of black fruit, minerality, and woody herbs. To make it easier for you to access the high-end wines of Bordeaux, we have developed our offering of celebrated estates throughout the region

(i.e. Château Lynch-Bages, Château Leoville-Barton etc.). Alongside this we have added outstanding quality in Haut-Medoc (Château Ramage la Batisse, p.7), Fronsac (Château la Dauphine p.15), and Bordeaux Supérieur (Château Pascaud, p.13).

In keeping with the move toward more sustainable and low-intervention practices, we have also developed our range of organic and biodynamic wines.

In the Costières de Nîmes in the Southern Rhône we now work with Château Mourgues du Grès. Husband and wife team Francios and Anne Coillard make biodynamic wines that are savoury, complex, and fresh. These wines have lifted acidity, intense minerality and fantastic length – making them perfect for complex food and wine pairings.

From Valdeorras in North Western Spain, the wines of Bodegas Valdesil are a world class example of how exciting and delicious wines made of Godello can be. Based in Vienna in Austria, Weingut Zahel produce unique expression of old vines Grüner Veltliner and Blaufrankish. These wines, fermented slowly using native yeasts are vibrant and complex and balance traditional and ancient winemaking techniques.

We hope you enjoy these exciting additions to our range. We remain on hand to support your own wine offering – through wine menu development, wine training, food pairing advice, and wine events.

Thank you for your continued support.

Chateau Lynch-Bages

The wine of Chateau Lynch-Bages is part of the lineage of the great Pauillac wines. Blended mostly from Cabernet Sauvignon, it combines structure and finesse, elegance and longevity. It is further distinguished by its opulence. Generous right from its youth, it develops more flavours and greater complexity as it matures.

The style of the wines has refined over the years, gaining suppleness and softness, whilst their consistency has been established over time. Chateau Lynch-Bages is characterised by its extraordinary qualitative homogeneity. Powerful, elegant and open, vintage after vintage, the wine has acquired greater accuracy, adding distinction to the hedonistic that made its reputation.

Bordeaux

Bordeaux is a famous region in southern France and one of the most celebrated wines making regions anywhere in the world. Split geographically by the Gironde Estuary which separates the two major production areas of Bordeaux; the left the right 'banks'. The climate here is maritime and rainy with soils well adapted to these conditions resulting in ripe and elegant wines. Organic vineyard conversion is steeply on the rise, along with increased efforts to tackle climate change.

Château Léoville-Barton

Founded by Irishman Thomas Barton, who left Ireland to establish a wine business in Bordeaux. In 1826, Grandson Hugh Barton purchased 50 hectares of vines in Saint Julien. This estate was classified as a 2nd Grand Cru Classé in 1855 and lies within the iconic terroir of Saint Julien in the Médoc. The Barton family's passion for wine is reflected in the elegance and consistency of Château Léoville Barton.

The vineyard itself nestles in the heart of the Saint Julien terroir among the most beautiful slopes of Garonne gravel, facing the Gironde river. The clayey gravel subsoil allows excellent growing conditions whatever weather the vintage brings.

Bordeaux

Along with multiple regions and subregions, Bordeaux is overlaid with unique system of quality measurement known as the 1885 classifications. At the Exposition Universelle de Paris wine fair of 1855, Napoleon requested a classification system for Bordeaux's best wines that were on display to visitors around the world. Brokers from the industry ranked various château's based on their reputation and trading price (which then was thought to be synonymous with quality). The wines were ranked in importance from first (Premier) to fifth (Cinquièmes) growths (known as 'Crus'). This classification system contains some of the most well known wines produced anywhere in the world.

Château de Fieuzal

Château de Fieuzal's vineyards extend across one of Pessac-Leognan's finest gravel outcrops. This ancient estate is a jewel of the Graves, an appellation whose soils are particularly well suited to the production of fine Cabernet Sauvignon. Since 2001 Fieuzal has been owned by Brenda and Lochlann Quinn, an Irish couple passionate about wine and determined to perpetuate the estate's unique character. For this reason, the vineyard receives every possible attention that might enable the remarkable terroir to better express itself.

Bordeaux

Wines classified as 'Bordeaux Superior' offer a higher quality product to standard 'Bordeaux AC'. At this level of production and classification, older vines are often utilised, grapes are selected for greater levels of maturation and the wines spend a minimum of 12 months after fermentation in oak 'barrique' (225l casks) to develop flavour, balance and complexity.

Château Puynard

Our own Andrew Eakin (from Co. Cavan!) for the last years has been exploring and perfecting an organic and biodynamic approach to winemaking in his estate Château Puynard, located in the Côtes de Blaye on the right bank of the river. The Côtes de Blaye contains hillside vineyards with lots of sun exposure and soils of limestone and clay. It is a fantastic area for the cultivation of plummy Merlot and smooth, ripe Cabernet Sauvignon.

His wines are packed-full of energy and complexity. The blends are driven by vibrant, plummy Merlot supported with punchy black fruits and tannins from a small amount of Cabernet Sauvignon.

Chablis

Chablis has a cool continental climate and is celebrated for its extremely complex soils which are largely made up of Kimmeridgian clay and limestone chalk. These soils give the wines of Chablis their trademark smoky minerality.

Like the Cote d'Or, in Burgundy, Chablis contains Premier Cru and Grand Cru sites. These south facing vineyards located on the mid-slope produce richer, higher quality wines that see a small amount of oak while maintaining their characteristic smoky minerality.

Burgundy

Burgundy is in central eastern France, just north of Dijon with a more extreme climate than Bordeaux's defined by warm summers and frosty winters.

The wines of Burgundy are made from two grape varieties: Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. Focusing on these two varieties for hundreds of years has enabled winemakers in Burgundy to develop a deep and unparalleled understanding of how they interact with the local climate. Burgundy is divided into wines produced at 'villages' level (ex. Côte de Beaune-Villages), 'communes' (ex. Mersault, Pommard), and smaller parcels called 'climats' (ex. Premier & Grand Cru sites). Each vineyard has become known for a particular style of Chardonnay or Pinot Noir.

Maison Edouard Delaunay

Representing a huge success story in modern winemaking, Maison Edouard Delaunay is run by Laurent Delaunay, representing the fifth generation of winemakers and negociants in his family history. Difficult times in the 90's and 00's meant the family had to sell their estate to Jean-Claude Boisset. In 2017, having worked for years in the Languedoc to generate the revenue, Laurent purchased the estate back and has been producing outstanding wines in their winery in Nuits-Saint-Georges ever since. Currently the president of the Burgundy Winemakers Association, Laurent works closely with winemaker Christophe Briotet (winner of London International Wine Challenge white wine maker of the year, 2021 and red winemaker of the year, 2020 and 2022).

Moillard-Grivot

Moillard-Grivot is a prestigious name in Bourgogne winemaking. Founded in 1848, Moillard-Grivot have for years prioritised the production of outstanding white wines in the Côte de Beaune, Côte Chalonaise, and the Mâconnais.

Domaine Lupé-Cholet

The introduction of the Napoleonic laws in 1804 meant that property could no longer be left only to the eldest son but had to be shared equally between all children. An unintended consequence of this was that vineyard holdings, as they moved hands from generation to generation, became increasingly smaller. As a result these days the average vineyard site in Burgundy is tiny. These sites are far too small for the owner/grower to produce enough wine to be commercially viable, while the cost of buying these vineyard for bigger producers is astronomically high! So, producers in Burgundy work as 'negociants' owning some of their own vineyards and working closely with growers from whom they buy grapes in the different subregions. Blending is therefore hugely important and a masterful art in Burgundy with winemakers blending different parcels from each commune to produce their wines.

A young and innovative winemaker in the mould of famous producers such as Foillard, Lappiere, Thenevet, and Breton. Based in the soon-to-be-Cru-classified village of Lantignié, Alexandre makes low-intervention, semi-carbonic wines. This produces an opulent expression of Gamay with lots of ripe black fruit, violets, woody herbs and minerality. His single vineyard 'La Coline de Chermieux' offers the kind of power and complexity you would expect from Grand Cru Burgundy and his Brouilly is elegant, delicate, and floral. A wonderfully exciting winemaker in a fascinating and developing region.

Champagne Pannier

The House of Champagne Pannier was established in 1899 by Louis-Eugène Pannier in the village of Dizy, just outside Eprenay. Since their inception, Pannier have been committed to extra bottling ageing of their wines and to this day each of their Champagnes are produced with a minimum of 36 months ageing on their lees (sur latte) to produce wines of incredible complexity.

Their gastronomic wines from C offer a tremendous pairing experience with a wide range of cuisines from traditional French food to modern Japanese and Chinese cuisine.

Champagne

Champagne is the most northerly region for grape growing in France and its low average temperatures results in the low-alcohol, acidic base wines required for the production of 'traditional method' sparkling wine.

The wines of Champagne are mainly blends of three primary grapes: Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier. 'Blanc de Blancs' wines require Chardonnay only in the blend whereas 'Blanc de Noirs' must be produced using the red grapes. Most wines are non-vintage blends but when there is an outstanding harvest, the Comité de Champagne will declare a vintage.

Champagne is known for its searing acidity and lemon curd and brioche flavours which derive from the unique 'traditional' method.

The vineyards of the Loire Valley in Northern France are nestled along the banks and slopes of the River Loire which stretches east to west from Nantes to the Central Vineyards.

Most readily associated with Sancerre and Pouilly-Fumé, the less familiar appellations of the Loire Valley have been growing in favour with wine lovers for the past decade as they share key features that exemplify contemporary taste; moderate alcohol, refreshing acidity and varietal expression, not to mention, the region's excellent value.

Loire

The Loire Valley represents one of France's most diverse regions of production. Following the course of the Loire River inland, the climate changes from maritime to continental. This facilitates the production of everything from dry white wines (Muscadet), off-dry rosé (Rosé d'Anjou), off-dry whites (Vouvray) and even the production of red wines from Cabernet Franc and Pinot Noir (Saint Nicholas de Bourgueil, Chinon).

Rhône

The Rhône Valley covers a long strip of land in eastern France divided physically and stylistically between the north and south. The north is characterised by a continental climate where we find the prototype for wines made from Syrah. The much larger southern Rhône is characterised by a warm Mediterranean climate and a wider selection of grape varieties, based around the essential triage; Grenache, Syrah and Mourvèdre.

Red wines dominate here, although rosé and white wines are produced in smaller quantities too. Overall, the trend is moving towards fresher, lighter styles of wine with lower alcohol levels.

Due to the increasing value of region's wines, there has been rise in the number of 'grower-estates' who produce and bottle their own wines, thus regaining control of the entire production process. These businesses operate alongside the traditional négociants who work with quality-minded growers.

Costières de Nîmes

The Costières de Nîmes is an sub-region of the Rhône situated between the ancient city of Nîmes and the western Rhône delta. Between the low rocky hills and garrigue that mark the borders of the Languedoc and Provence, and the low sandy plain of the Camargue the Rhône delta, the soil is mostly a mixture of round pebbles 'galets' similar to Châteauneuf-du-Pape, and sandy alluvial deposit and red shale. The soil depth from 3 to 15 metres is largely responsible for the variations of style within this AOC. The climate is Mediterranean, similar to that of the Rhône valley, but is characterised by its proximity to the coast and the sea breezes. This leads to wines which are lighter, more savoury and mineral than their Rhone Valley counterparts.

Languedoc-Roussillon

The Languedoc-Roussillon is France's largest wine producing region. The dry Mediterranean climate enables the region to produce one third of all of France's organic wines.

Côtes de Thongue is an IGP title covering wines that are produced on the southern slopes of the Montagne Noire in the Languedoc-Roussillon region of France. It expands over the AOC Languedoc appellation, as well as the vineyards of Faugeres higher in the hills. The Côtes de Thongue IGP covers wines that are not made according to the AOC specifications of these appellations.

Languedoc-Roussillon

The Languedoc-Roussillon is well regarded for its inexpensive, but high quality single varietal IGP wines made from popular varieties such as Merlot, Sauvignon Blanc and Chardonnay. The Modern Era has seen a shift from quality to quantity and the proportion of Appellation production has increased in the past few decades with regions such as St Chinian, Faugères and Corbières becoming recognised by sommeliers for their excellent value. Red wines are blends of Grenache Noir, Syrah, Mourvèdre and/or Carignan and white blends include varieties like Grenache Blanc, Marsanne, Roussane and Rolle.

South West France (Cahors & Provence)

Located halfway between the Atlantic and Mediterranean coasts, Cahors is unique in that its climate is affected by Mediterranean, continental, and maritime influences. Traditionally, the wines of Cahors are made principally from Malbec (known locally as 'Côt' or 'Auxerrois') and are famous for being rich, dark, tannic and incredibly age-worthy. This rich, dry profile is the result of the heavy extraction of colour and tannins from the skins of the Malbec grapes in the winemaking process and has led to the wines been known colloquially as 'black wines' (or 'Vins Noir'). In more recent years, gentler winemaking techniques have resulted in more modern wines, with lower tannins and delicious aromas of chocolate, ripe black fruit and woody herbs.

Provence

Being a large region for wine production, the Côtes de Gascogne contains a variety of terroirs. Sandy soils with Atlantic maritime influences along the coast give way to limestone soils and a continental climate in the east. Benefiting from cool winds from the Alps and the influence of the Atlantic, Provence is a beautiful region to produce dry, mineral rosé wines made from a blend of Grenache, Syrah, and Mourvèdre.

Piedmont

Piemonte is one of Italy's most prestigious wine regions, home to their treasured red grape variety, Nebbiolo.

Red wines here are noteworthy for their high acidity and even higher tannins! Barbera and Dolcetto are the next best known red grapes after Nebbiolo. The grape variety Cortese produces the crisp, bone-dry white wines of Gavi and the style of Roero Arneis is loved for its almond-lifted note.

In 2010, the MGA system was approved which marks out the best sites in Piemonte, inspired by the Burgundian Cru System where wines are characterised not just by grape variety but by their precise location or 'terroir'.

Poderi Gianni Gagliardo

Situated in the small town of La Morra within Barolo, Poderi Gianni Gagliardo make delicious, world class Barolo wines.

Run by the three sons of Gianni, Stefano, Alberto, and Paolo, Gagliarda have vineyards in MGA sites, Lazzarito, Fossati, Bricco San Peitro, Santa Maria and Serra di Turchi – the most premium sites for cultivating Nebbiolo found anywhere in the world. Certified organic, their wines are aged in the traditional fashion, in large oak casks for an extended period of maturation.

Tenuta Garetto

Located in Asti, Tenuta Garetto are masters of the cultivation of Barbera. Unlike Nebbiolo, Barbera requires less ageing and offers a beautiful profile of red plums, red cherries and liquorice. Their single vineyard site within the DOCG 'Nizza' produces Grand Cru quality wines which are rich and powerful with enormous ageing potential.

Tenuta San Leonardo

San Leonardo's iconic Bordeaux-style wines have been branded as the "Super Tuscans" of Northern Italy by the likes of Jancis Robinson. Principally red blends of Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and Carmenère, these wines are wonderfully complex and age worthy and regularly receive the highest possible scores from top wine critics.

Trentino

The Italian region of Trentino lies in the foothills of the Alps with viticulture concentrated on the lower slopes of the breath-taking Dolomite hills. The nearby Lake Garda tempers the climate and extends the ripening window into the Autumn, helping to produce crisp wines with ripe fruit flavours.

Trentino typically produces inexpensive single varietal white wines from large co-operatives who contribute to over 80% of total production in the area. Quality-minded private estates are more of a rarity so it is a real privilege to count the world-wide celebrated estate of Tenuta San Leonardo within our portfolio.

Veneto

Veneto is Italy's largest wine-producing region, known for high volume production of Prosecco and Pinot Grigio. The very best sites for the growing of Glera (the grape variety of Prosecco) are Ogliano and Conegliano Valdobbiadene. Here limestone soils, vineyards situated on steep slopes, and cooler growing conditions come together to produce fantastically high-quality fruit. This is used to make DOCG Prosecco spumante wines that offer glorious quality, complexity and longevity at fantastically competitive prices.

Bisol

Bisol's viticultural methods focus on vine health and environmental sustainability combined with a conscientious agronomic management policy. The family personally cultivates over 20 vineyards in the very best of sites in the Valdobbiadene hills. # Lombardy

Lugana is a picturesque, white wine-specific viticultural region in northern Italy. The vineyard area straddles the regional border between Lombardy in the west and Veneto in the east. It sits at the southern end of Lake Garda, the vines providing a relatively new addition to the landscape of fishing villages and castle-topped towns. Chalky soils and regulating cool air from the lake make the perfect conditions for the growing of Trebbiano di Lugana – the varietal of the region. This produces light bodied wines which are aromatic and packed-full of aromas of citrus, white flowers, almonds, and salt.

Veneto

The DOC(G)s of Valpolicella and Soave are found in Veneto, while north of this region lies Friuli.

In Veneto, a warm continental climate is tempered by cooling breezes from the Northern Alps and the western Lake Garda. Soils are infamously fertile here (hence the high volumes) so quality production is limited to the better-drained hillside vineyards. In Italy these sites are delineated as 'Classico' zones.

Friuli

Friuli is Italy's most north-eastern region bordering Austria with a cooler continental climate. Here production is very small and quality driven with focus on varietals such as Pinot Grigio and Sauvignon Blanc. These quality wines come from the hills where sandstone-marl soil called 'ponca' provides useful drainage in this very wet region.

Wineries

Tenuta San Antonio

The delicious 'Appassimento' wines of Valpolicella (wines made from dried grapes) are widely adored due to their cherry-scented aromas and silky texture. A favourite of James Suckling, Tenuta Sant'Antonio, in the Garbi Mountains, is owned by the four Castagnedi brothers, who cultivate over 100ha of vines in key areas. They specialise in the local styles of wines here, including Soave, Ripasso and Amarone, with particular attention paid to 'territory and personality'.

Attems

One of the oldest Estates in Friuli, Attems is part of the Frescobaldi's collection. From high quality terroir, the wines echo the aims of Friuli winemaking with their clean profile and pure varietal expression. For the more adventurous, we suggest the Ramato 'Rosé', a skin contact Pinot Grigio with aromas of watermelon, almonds and peach.

Chianti

The historic region of Tuscany is the birthplace of Sangiovese, Italy's most widely planted grape variety. Sangiovese thrives in Tuscany's warm Mediterranean climate and powerful clay soils. Most of the region's iconic DOCGs are made from this varietal, including Chianti, Montepulciano, and Brunello di Montalcino.

Southern Tuscany

Red wines made from Sangiovese display high acidity, red cherry aromas and grippy tannins. Premium wines like Brunello are matured for many years in French or Slavonian oak, depending on custom, for a richer, full-bodied style. Bolgheri acts as the outlier, specialising in red Bordeaux blends, better known as “Super Tuscans”.

Castel Giocondo

The aged wines of Brunello di Montalcino have been produced at Castel Giocondo, an ancient and charming estate on the Montalcino hill, since 1869. Owned today by the Frescobaldi family, the estate represents the very best of terrior and wine-making for the production of Montalcino wines. Enriched by an enchanting castle and a medieval village, the vineyards of the CastelGiocondo estate enjoy the perfect growing conditions for ripe Sangiovese: an altitude of about 300 meters, perfect sun exposure to the south-west and well-draining marl soils.

Marche

With its pleasant Mediterranean climate, Marche has the ideal climate for the cultivation of Montepulciano, producing the deep coloured wines of the DOCs Rosso Piceno and Rosso Conero. The strategy of main promotional body here, the IMT, was to focus on indigenous grapes and compared to the wines of Tuscany, these less familiar DOCs are worth seeking out for their excellent value and point of difference.

White wines are based on the white grape, Verdicchio, which fares well on the cool limestone-clay soils, promoting higher levels of acidity in the wines. Verdicchio produces wines with fennel and lemon flavours with a trademark hint of bitterness.

Garofoli

An important name in the region and among our stable of wines, Garofoli are a fifth-generation winemaking family who produce a range of styles across the region's DOCs. From their best-selling Verdicchio dei Castelli di Jesi 'Serra del Conte' (a saline expression of Verdicchio grown in coastal vineyards) to more powerful, Burgundian styles like 'Podium', with grapes sourced from low yielding old vines and aged on their lees for 12 months, Garofoli are masters of white wine production in the region.

Torre Raone

We continue to support the small private estate of Tenuta Torre Raone, 1,100 ft above the Adriatic and bordering the Gran Sasso national park. Owners, Luciano and Antonio, have worked hard to achieve organic certification for elegant 'paired back' wines, using only neutral oak, if at all.

Abruzzo

Located in Central Italy, Abruzzo is synonymous with the very versatile red grape variety, Montepulciano, produced in a range of styles from simple fruit-forward easy-drinking unoaked wines to serious oak-aged age-worthy examples.

Sicily

Sicily is Italy's largest wine region with 98,000 hectares under vine. The main red varietal grown is Nero d'Avola, which benefits from the altitude offered by the hills of Mount Etna, producing rich and smooth wines with black fruit and Mediterranean herbs.

SPAIN

Bierzo

Bordering Galicia, Bierzo DO is in part of the region of Castilla y León, a large high plateau enclosed by mountains. Grape growing in such an extreme climate marked by very hot summers and cold winters, is achieved by growing at high altitudes reaching 850 metres above sea level, which provides a cooling influence. The local varietal Mencía is cultivated here, trained bush vine, low to the ground and the area is famous for its powerful yet elegant red wines packed full of aromas of wild berries, herbs, and tobacco.

Riccardo Perez

Working with his uncle, Álvaro Palacios (widely considered to be one of the world's greatest winemakers), Riccardo revived viticulture here in the 1990s, focusing on old vines of Mencía, well adapted to the slate and granite soil which lend these wines their 'mineral' characteristic. Winemaking here follows the Burgundian model with individual vineyards identified for Grand Cru quality production. Riccardo produces these wines from sites such as La Faraona, Las Lamas, and Moncerbal. The region is now one of Spain's rising stars and we offer a world class range of these wines including the much-loved Petalos del Bierzo.

Priorat

Priorat is small, prestigious part of Catalunya and one of the only two DOQs in Spain, for good reason. Old Cariñena and Garnacha vines are planted on steep, schist slopes (known locally as 'llicorella') leading to extremely low yields of highly concentrated juice which translates to deep, inky red wines. Growing grapes here is a labour of love and the payoff can be felt in these utterly world class wines.

Wineries

Álvaro Palacios

The founder of modern world class winemaking in Priorat, Álvaro Palacios has been very active in introducing the Burgundian concepts of Villages and Cru to the region. Having settled in the previously uncelebrated village of Gratallops, Álvaro is the world leading expert in the cultivation of Garnacha on single vineyard sites. His L'Ermite is lauded as one of the most essential Spanish wines of the 20th century for its 'pure' expression of the local grapes. Our range includes a wide choice of Alvaro's wines from Priorat, wines which are a must have for any complete fine wine lists.

Rías Baixas

Situated on coast of north-western Spain, Galicia has a moderate maritime climate and is home to the very best sites in the world for the production of Albariño. Galicia is a larger region and of the many subregions it contains by far the best terrior for aromatic white wine production is Rías Baixas. Complex soils composed of granite and limestone lend themselves to producing mineral white wines, with intensely aromatic stone and tropical fruit profiles and hints of sea salt.

Valdeorras

Valdeorras is the most easterly DO in Galicia, a rainy part of Spain where free-draining schist and slate soils are vital for the production of healthy grapes. The region boasts extremely old vines of Godello going back to 1885 and original cuttings were replanted in vineyards, called Pezas, across the Sil Valley, producing mineral white wines, with intensely aromatic stone and tropical fruit profiles and hints of sea salt.

Bodegas Valdesil

New to the range and lauded by Jancis Robinson, the wines of Bodegas Valdesil are made from the indigenous varietal Godello, mainly from old vines and low yields, naturally fermented and aged on the lees and then bottled unfiltered. Run by a family team, led by eldest brother Raúl Prada Luengo These focused, mineral-led whites have a mouthfeel reminiscent of the finest white Burgundy.

Bodegas Terras Gauda

Bodegas Terras Gauda are experts of white wine production, focusing on cultivating the indigenous varietals Albariño, Caiño Blanco & Loureiro. Their flagship wine, O Rosal (grown in the O Rosal Valley within Rías Baixas), is a masterful blend of these three varietals – an aged worthy aromatic white with complex aromas of pineapple, sage, elderflower, lees ageing and minerality.

Penèdes

In eastern Spain beside the Mediterranean ocean and a stone's throw from Barcelona, we find Penèdes. The region is best known for Cava, which is made from the grape varieties; Xarel-lo, Macabeo and Parellada. Penèdes can broadly be divided into three zones depending on how far away from the ocean the vineyards lie. In the Penèdes Superior zone, higher altitudes give a wider day-night temperature difference, elongating the growing season and protecting acidity levels in the grape for fresher styles of wine.

Cava is produced using the traditional method, as they do in Champagne. This method lends the wines complex aromas of toast and brioche from ageing on dead yeast cells. While unlike Champagne, Cava can be produced throughout Spain. However the very best examples of it come from Penèdes. Due to its elevated vineyards and capacity to produce the key grape varieties, Paralleda, Cava from Penèdes has unrivalled complexity, longevity, and acidity.

Ribera del Duero

In the mountainous centre of Castilla y León, plots of very old bush vines produce concentrated berries that translate into the iconic red wines of Ribera del Duero. Vines are planted at altitudes reaching nearly 1,000 metres above sea level, providing an essential cooling influence to the warm Mediterranean climate.

Ribera del Duero focuses on red wine production. The local clone of Tempranillo (known as 'Tinto Fino'), produces small clusters with more tannins than those we see in nearby Rioja, lending power and structure to these opulent wines.

Prado Rey

Prado Rey is located in the eastern part of the Ribera del Duero, one of the highest quality areas of this Denomination of Origin for altitude, orography, climate and soil composition.

They work with the Burgundian model of single vineyards and smaller plots and in the winery, they have prioritised a return to the old ways of making wine – using amphora clay pots of ageing and slow, native yeast fermentations. As a result, their wines are rich and extremely complex with a beautiful balance between powerful tannins, dark fruit and sweet oak influences.

Rioja Alta

Rioja is unarguably Spain's most recognised and successful wine-producing region. History offers a ready explanation for this. After phylloxera broke out in Bordeaux, a new market opened up for similar wines. Rioja's location was a real advantage being so far north, with ready access to a railway and nearby ports, thereby providing an accessible route for the wines of Rioja to be transported to European neighbours. Finally, the rest of the world could develop a taste for these very particular wines.

Since then, the style of Rioja's wines have gone through various iterations. Today, following global trends, producers are working with less extraction and with older barrels for a more subtle integration of oak. Although best known for red wines, Rioja also produces unique white wines too, with many aged in American oak and others partially oxidised.

Conde de los Andes

Bodegas Ollauri 'Conde de los Andes' is an estate situated above an incredible cellar system which runs 2.5 kilometres below the mountains and houses at any given time over 500 thousand bottles of wine!

Their single-vineyard wines (made mostly from Tempranillo) spend 3 years in wooden barrel and 10 years in bottle before release! The wines are luscious and rich with dried black fruit and notes of green peppercorn and coconut.

Bodegas Santalba Viña Hermosa

This multi-generational estate focuses on blending their wines to express the best of the terrior or Rioja Alta. For their red wines along with Tempranillo they also cultivate Garnacha Tinto, Graciano, and Mazuelo. This leads to elegant wines full of complexity. For white wines, they grow Viura, Sauvignon Blanc, and Rioja Malvasia which produce wines which are light and fresh with notes of ripe orchard and yellow fruit.

Rioja Alavesa

Rioja Alavesa is the smallest and northernmost of the three Rioja sub-regions and is greatly influenced by the Atlantic. High altitude and cooler temperatures bring longer ripening periods – resulting in fresher wines with more aromatic complexity. As a result, the wines of Rioja Alavesa are known for their elegance and lifted aromatic profile.

Bodegas Muriel

The balance between the past and the future defines the character of Bodegas Muriel. Founded in 1926 by José Murúa Villaverde, today, the winery has the strength of experience and the vision of its current managers, Julián Murúa and his son, Javier Murúa. Experts in the cultivation of Tempranillo, Julián and Javier have mastered the art of ageing wine post-fermentation in wooden vats. This leads to elegant wines that are delicious, offering great harmony between fruit and oak aromas.

Álvaro Palacios - Palacios Remondo

Álvaro Palacios comes from a prestigious wine family, from La Rioja. He could have secured a prime position in the family winery, the world famous Palacios Remondo. However, being the dynamic visionary that he is, he decided to go out in the wine world and make his own way. He studied oenology in Bordeaux and had the enviable job of working under Pomerol superstar Châteaux Pétrus winemaker Jean Pierre Moueix. When he returned to Spain, he founded his own winery in 1989 in the Mediterranean wine region of Priorat, south of Barcelona in Tarragona, together with respected winemaker René Barbier and a few others. In 2000, upon his father's death, Alvaro assumed responsibility for Palacios Remondo, and committed to taking the estate's quality to new heights. Under his inspired leadership, Palacios Remondo is now a rising star of Rioja.

Austria

While the winemaking regions of Austria can be found on the same latitude as Burgundy, it is much more centrally located within Europe (and at higher altitude). This results in a cool growing environment with bright and warm sunny summer days followed by cool nights – perfect conditions for the growing of fresh and aromatic wines with good body and fine character.

The most important varietal for white wine production in Austria is Grüner Veltliner. This indigenous varietal produces wines which are aromatic and full bodied. At 'village-level' these wines offer aromas of green apple, thyme and white pepper, and in single vineyard production make glorious, age-worthy white wine with notes of honey and stone fruits.

Weingut Zahel

The Zahel family winery has a long and proud history in Vienna. The winery, run by Alex Zahel, now produces wine completely biodynamically and organically. His DAC Grüner Veltliner wines are fresh and concentrated with delicious green and citrus fruits, which his range of Ein Wildes Glashen showcases the complexity that modern low-intervention winemaking can produce with native yeasts used for fermentation (which increases the aromatic intensity of the wine) and amphorae clay pots used for ageing (which develops the wine and produced 'tertiary' aromas of dried fruits and nuts)

Peter Schweiger

Located in the village of Zöbing (in the south of Kamptal) the Schweiger winery is run by fourth generation son Peter Jnr. Placing a huge emphasis on sustainable viticultural processes, Peter allows his wines to age post fermentation, giving the wines roundness and hints of spice.

Mosel

The most important wine-producing areas of Germany are so cool that grapes only ripen here successfully due the northly latitude which provides extra daylight in the summer and due to the vines' steeply angled positions on south-facing slopes.

Riesling is Germany's flagship variety and its winter hardiness makes it right at home in this cooler part of the world. The refreshingly dry, aromatic, low-alcohol style of Riesling is becoming more and more popular with consumers and represent excellent value for money compared with similar wines from top appellations in France.

Portugal is a fascinating country for wine production with massive diversity of types and styles. With mountains, river valleys, coastal areas and sandy plains (allied to hundreds of indigenous grape varieties) Portugal produces one of the widest range of wine styles in Europe! In Vinho Verde, young, fresh zippy white wines (often with a hint of spritz) are made of indigenous varieties; Trejadoura, Arinto, Avesso & Lourero. The Douro produces rich reds with fabulous tannins and dark fruit and complex white wines that take well to oak ageing. In Lisboa, they produce fruity and easy drinking wines from varieties such as Touriga Nacional and Trincadeira while Alentejo with its mineral and oaky reds is a must-try for any lovers of the wines of Rioja!

The English wine industry is one that has greatly benefited from warming global temperatures. Due to shared characteristics with Champagne, such as a northerly latitude and soils with significant amounts of chalk, producers made the astute decision to focus on premium sparkling wines and the results have been very gratifying.

The wines are made using the Champagne grape varieties, Pinot Noir, Chardonnay and Pinot Meunier but the English wines have a more pronounced acidity and tartness, balanced by excellent fruit ripeness from low yields.

Robertson

Robertson is a Mountain ringed valley in the Western Cape of South Africa. The region is cooled by the influence of south-easterly winds from the Indian ocean. These breezes cool the vineyards down (especially at night) – this in turn slows down the ripening process and allows the grapes develop their aromatic complexity. As a result, Robertson has perfect terrior for the cultivation of aromatic varietals such as Cabernet Sauvignon and Sauvignon Blanc.

Franschhoek

Originally a French settlement, Franschhoek (the 'French Corner') is a premium wine producing valley in the south-east corner of Paarl in the coastal Western Cape. Franschhoek has a warm, continental climate. This makes it ideally suited to the production of heavy, robust red wines (such as Shiraz and Cabernet Sauvignon) and rich, fruit-driven white wines (though vineyards at higher altitude also produce crisp Sauvignon Blanc and Chenin Blanc). The shadows cast by the surrounding mountains help to

Springfield Estate

Springfield Estate is a family-run wine farm owned by ninth-generation descendants of French Huguenots, who came to South Africa from the Loire in 1688.

Their estate is made up many varying soil types, quartz, limestone, sand, and loam. Making the most of this extraordinary terrain, winemakers Arbie and Jeanette Bruwer cultivate multiple varietals in a range of styles. Once in the berries are in the winery they have mastered the art of long, slow fermentation using only native yeasts cultivate from their own vineyards. This slow, masterful fermentation takes great skill and results in beautifully aromatic red and white wines with huge amount of complexity at excellent prices.

La Motte

The estate at La Motte has been producing wine since 1695 when the land was granted to Hans Hendrick, a German immigrant. In 1970 the farm was bought by Dr. Antoin Rupert and redeveloped into a modern winery with a focus on producing international grape varieties.

Environmental management is a high priority at La Motte and is factored into the long-term strategy as well as daily running of the estate.

Stellenbosch

Stellenbosch is the most famous wine-producing region in South Africa. Vineyards cover the gently rolling hills of Stellenbosch, from Helderberg in the south to the lower slopes of Simonsberg Mountain in the north. This terrain, and variation of soil types allows for huge variation in wine styles with a wide range of varieties planted across the regions. While there is a wide range of styles produced here, the region being most famous for its production of age worthy Chenin Blanc, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Pinotage.

The region's climate is relatively hot and dry, although a maritime influence comes from False Bay in the south. Cooling south-easterly breezes wash through the vineyards in the afternoons, refreshing the grapes after the morning's hot sun. White-wine varieties are often planted closer to the ocean where this effect is more pronounced.

Post House

Situated 7km from the False Bay coast between Somerset West and Stellenbosch, the property of Post House has a total of 38 hectares under vineyard. A breach in the coastal ridge channels the south and southwest winds towards the vineyards. These cooling breezes help moderate the summer temperatures, slowing down ripening and creating complexity. Here winemaker Nick Webbers makes low-intervention, dark, and rich red wines, using native yeasts, basket pressing and leaving the wines unfiltered. A specialist in Shiraz, Merlot, Pinotage and Petit Verdot, Nick's wines are incredibly complex and vibrant with aromas of dark fruit, chocolate and spice.

Mooiplass Estate

At the Mooiplass Estate, Tielman and Louis Roos produce a range of wines rooted in the traditional techniques of fermentation and barrel ageing that maximise the potential offered by the Stellenbosch terrior. A Master of wild yeast, natural fermentation, Lois produces intensely aromatic wines from Chenin Blanc and Pinotage.

Seifried

The Seifried story began in 1973 when Austrian-born Hermann Seifried and his New Zealand wife Agnes had a dream of making wines in New Zealand's sunshine capital – Nelson. From very small and modest beginnings when Hermann and Agnes grafted the vines late into the night, to today when all three Seifried children have returned home to play their part in growing the family business, Seifried Estate is a company devoted to sustainable winegrowing and producing the very best Nelson has to offer.

Prior to the arrival of Herman Seifried in the 1980's, it was not thought that you could produce quality wine on the South Island. Herman was a pioneer and the first to grow Sauvignon Blanc along with Riesling, Grüner Veltliner, Gewürztraminer and Pinot Gris (before this the area had produced bulk wine from Müller-Thurgau and Sylvaner). Herman's successes emboldened more and more producers to make the travel South. Indeed, it was Hermann who sold the winemakers of Cloudy Bay and Oyster Bay (to name but a few) their first cuttings of Sauvignon Blanc!

McClaren Vale

McLaren Vale has produced wine since 1838. Of the region's 7,308 hectares of area under vine, 54% of the plantings are dedicated to Shiraz, however producers in McLaren Vale also excel in growing Pinot Noir, Cabernet Sauvignon and Chardonnay. This variety of grape growing is enabled by a wide variety of soil types, from red brown sandy loams, grey brown loamy sands with yellow clay subsoils interspersed with lime, distinctly sandy soils and patches of red or black friable loams are all to be found.

Angove

Angove Family Winemakers is a fifth-generation family owned and operated winery and distillery dedicated to crafting super premium and single vineyard wines from their organic vineyards in McLaren Vale, together with diverse organic wines and spirits from some of Australia's great wine growing regions. Their commitment to sustainable farming results in healthy, resilient vines which lead to top quality fruit and award-winning wines.

Shottesbrooke Estate

Shottesbrooke's journey began in 1981, when its founder, Nick Holmes, planted his very first vineyard just outside the tiny South Australian hamlet of Myponga. It was from these vines, and the quality of fruit they produced, that his passion for crafting wines from in and around McLaren Vale was born.

From these humble beginnings, Nick went on to acquire the property situated at McLaren Flat, upon which he constructed the Shottesbrooke winery and cellar door, and it was here that he began the journey towards creating the best examples of McLaren Vale wines possible.

Barossa Valley

Just under an hour northeast of Adelaide, the Barossa Valley has a warm Mediterranean climate that allows it produce the most delicious and powerful red wines. Soils are mostly rich and deep, varying widely from clay loam to more sandy soils, which suit perfectly the growing of their most famous varietal – Shiraz. Due to an absence of Phylloxera in many of its vineyard sites, Barossa boasts some of the oldest vines being cultivated anywhere in the world which contribute to the rich, savoury nature of the wines made there.

Tasmania

Cachapoal Valley

The Cachapoal Valley shares its name with the river flowing through its centre. The eastern edge of the wide valley is marked by the western slopes of the Andes, while to the north and northwest loom the 1,500m (5,000ft) hills of the Coastal Ranges.

The valley is well sheltered from the cooling influences of the Pacific Ocean and enjoys a temperate Mediterranean climate. The majority of Cachapoal's noteworthy wineries and vineyards are located towards the east of the region, where the slopes of the Andes begin to rise away from the warmer valley floor, creating perfect growing conditions for Bordeaux varieties such as Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon.

Torreón de Parades

Mendoza

The heart of Argentina's wine country; Mendoza is located on the eastern side of the Andes in the Cuyo region. With a hot Mediterranean climate, the terrior of Mendoza could almost be described as arid. However, the extensive altitude and permission of irrigation allows for the production of the most deliciously rich wines. The soils are made of alluvial clay, sand and granite and are perfect for the growing of Argentina's most famous varietal, Malbec.

La Mascota:

Álvaro Palacios comes from a prestigious La Mascota is run by celebrated winemaker Rodolfo 'Opi' Sadler. Opi belongs to a family of third generation of winemakers. His grandfather was born in Sadleri, a small Italian village where he worked planting vines. Having settled in Mendoza and, acquiring his vineyard, he built a small winery, starting a family tradition.

Years later, his grandson Opi would found his own winery, La Mascota, located in Maipú in the northwest of Mendoza. With soils of alluvial and clay-loam, and rocks at a depth of approximately 60 centimetres, Opi is a master of cultivating generous, mineral red wines with notes of black fruit jam, pepper, and chocolate from Malbec, Cabernet Sauvignon and Cabernet Franc.

Cafayete Valley

The Cafayate wine region is one of the highest places in the world that is suitable for viticulture, as the majority of the region's vineyards are located at 1,800m above sea level. The altitude affects both the climate and the terroir, having a cooling effect on the harsh heat experienced in Argentina and slowing ripening, leading to more fragrant and aromatic wines.

Wineries

El Esteco

El Esteco boast some of the highest vineyards anywhere in the world at over 1,700m. Utilising the harsh conditions of this desert climate, along with the complex mountainous soils, they produce distinctive and high end wines from very old vines of Torrontés, Malbec, and Cabernet Sauvignon. Their second range of wines, Don David Reserva, offer outstanding quality at their price point with delicious toasty aromas from oak ageing.

California represents a huge growing area is by far the biggest viticultural region in America. It has a hot Mediterranean climate which is offset by cooling fogs drawn in from the sea. In Napa, vineyards planted mid-slope on the valleys in amongst the Vaca and Mayacamas mountain ranges are dry with cooling Pacific influences, ideal for producing highest quality and age worthy Cabernet Sauvignon.

Rutherford Ranch

Of the sixteen sub-appellations in the Napa Valley, the Rutherford AVA may be the most renowned. Legendary winemaker André Tchelistcheff said, "It takes Rutherford dust to grow great Cabernet". Rutherford Ranch Winery has multiple vineyards throughout the AVA where they produce Cabernet Sauvignon of the highest quality. Their cooler sites produce fruit that offers aromatic profile, tannins and acidity while their warmer vineyards lend alcohol, body and complex fruit aromas to their wines.

California

Lodi situated in the northern section of the Central Valley has warmer temperatures ideal for the cultivation and ripening of Zinfandel. The Arroyo Secco has a 'transitional climate' with cool, foggy weather to the north and hot sunny weather to the south. Here complex soils and cooler temperatures make perfect conditions for elegant Pinot Noir and rich, oak-aged Chardonnay

Port

Port is a sweet, fortified wine made from grapes grown in the region of Porto in the upper Douro Valley. A mountainous region, most vineyards here are planted on terraces supported by ancient stone walls known as 'Quintas'. With a very hot climate and soils of schist, Porto produces low yields full of intensity. After fermentation and fortification these wines are either 'wood aged' in wooden barrels from anywhere between 5-30 years (Ruby & Tawny port), or 'bottle aged' where the wine spends 2 years in port followed by a long ageing period in bottle (vintage port).

Sherry

Sherry, or 'Jerez', is a region famous for producing fortified wines in a range of styles from bone dry to the sweetest wines found anywhere in the world! Each style, Fino, Olorosso, Pedro Ximenez etc. is aged post fermentation in a complex system known as the 'Soleria' system where the wines are moved from barrel to barrel and are blended between vintages to create a final wine that has a distinct style.

Wineries

Osbourne:

Osborne is a Spanish company, with 250 years of experience, internationally recognised for the artisanal production of fortified wines in both Portugal and Spain.

The history of Osborne goes back to the end of the 18th Century, when a young English merchant, who went by the name of Thomas Osborne Mann, arrived in the Cádiz region to sell wines from the area. He soon began to do business in el Puerto de Santa María, and this is where he acquired various wineries that he would later bring together under one brand: Osborne. Producers of Sherry and Port, they prioritise sustainable production and each of their wines showcase the very best that their regions have to offer.

1.2 These Terms and Conditions will apply to all sales of Products and sale or rental of Equipment (as applicable), and no variation or purported variation (including in particular any terms and conditions on the Buyer's contract or order form, or any terms implied by trade, custom or practice or course of dealing) will have effect unless expressly agreed to in writing on behalf of Sysco Ireland.

1.3 A Contract will be deemed to be concluded between the Sysco Ireland and the Buyer in respect of the purchase of Products and/or sale or rental of Equipment (as applicable) when Sysco Ireland acknowledges acceptance of the Buyer's order or commences delivery of the Products or Equipment to the Buyer, whichever occurs earlier.

1.4 The contractual rights which the Buyer enjoys by virtue of sections 12, 13, 14 and 15 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1893 (as amended) are in no way prejudiced by anything contained in these Terms and Conditions save (if the Buyer is not dealing as consumer or in the case of an international sale of Products) to the extent permitted by law.

2. TRANSFER OF OWNERSHIP

2.1 All Products will remain the property of the relevant member of Sysco Ireland until that member has received payment in full for all sums due and owing on any account by the Buyer or any Affiliate of the Buyer. Sysco Ireland shall at all times retain all right, title and interest in all Equipment.

2.2 If the Buyer sells or otherwise disposes of the Products before payment in full as aforesaid has been made, the Buyer will in such case hold all monies received from such sale or disposal in trust for Sysco Ireland.

2.3 So long as the property in the Products and the Equipment remains in Sysco Ireland, the Buyer will hold the Products as bailee for Sysco Ireland and will store the Products so as to clearly show them to be the property of Sysco Ireland, and Sysco Ireland will have the right, without prejudice to the obligations of the Buyer to purchase the Products, to require the Buyer to deliver up the Products and/or Equipment, or to retake possession of the Products and/or the Equipment (and for that purpose to go upon any premises occupied by the Buyer).

2.4 Nothing in this clause will confer any right upon the Buyer to return the Products. Sysco Ireland may maintain an action for payment in respect of any Products notwithstanding that property in the Products has not vested in the Buyer.

2.5 The Buyer will not in any way pledge or charge by way of security for any indebtedness any Products or Equipment which remain the property of Sysco Ireland.

3. EQUIPMENT

3.1 For such time as the Buyer has possession of any Equipment it shall:

3.1.1 be responsible for the maintenance of the Equipment in good and substantial repair;

3.1.2 be responsible for and ensure that the Equipment is used in a safe manner and at all times in accordance with usage instructions;

3.1.3 be responsible for loss or damage caused to the Equipment;

3.1.4 be responsible for loss or damage caused by the Equipment;

3.1.5 keep the Equipment at premises which are pre-approved by Sysco Ireland;

3.1.6 retain possession of the Equipment;

3.1.7 use the Equipment only for the designated purpose;

3.1.8 indemnify Sysco Ireland in respect of any losses, liabilities, claims, damages, costs or expenses arising out of or connected with any failure to comply with any of the terms contained in this clause 3.1, which may be suffered by Sysco Ireland or any of its Affiliates (and for the purposes of this clause 3.1, any loss suffered by any of Sysco Ireland's Affiliates shall be deemed to be a loss suffered by Sysco Ireland).

3.2 Sysco Ireland makes no warranties in respect of the Equipment. Sysco Ireland will, to the extent that it is able and upon the Buyer's request, at the sole cost and expense of the Buyer, assign or make available to the Buyer the benefit of any warranties or guarantees relating to the Equipment obtained from the manufacturer thereof.

4. DELIVERY

4.1 Any times quoted for delivery are estimates only and Sysco Ireland will not be liable for failure to deliver within the time quoted.

4.2 The Buyer shall give Sysco Ireland adequate delivery instructions, provide access to its premises and a reasonably accessible delivery location for the purpose of making the delivery, and use best endeavours to ensure that a responsible person is present at the delivery location to take delivery of the Products or Equipment. To the extent that the Buyer does not comply with these obligations, Sysco Ireland reserves the right to charge the Buyer for the cost of any failed delivery and any losses incurred as a result.

4.3 Sysco Ireland may make partial deliveries or deliveries by instalments, and the Terms and Conditions herein contained will apply to each such delivery.

4.4 Deviations in quantity of the Products (representing not more than 10 per cent by value) from that stated in the relevant Invoice will not give the Buyer any right to reject the Products or claim damages, and the Buyer will be obliged to accept and pay at the applicable price for the quantity of the Products delivered.

4.5 Where the Buyer collects Products from Sysco Ireland premises, the Buyer agrees to be solely responsible for the transportation of such Products in a manner that provides appropriate temperature and sanitary protection for the Products and in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations. In the event of any claims or charges of any kind against Sysco Ireland related to transportation of Products after being collected from Sysco Ireland premises, the Buyer shall fully defend and indemnify Sysco Ireland.

5. RISK OF LOSS OR DAMAGE

5.1 Notwithstanding that the property in the Products may not have passed to the Buyer, the Buyer will carry all risk of loss of and damage to the Products from the time when the Products are delivered to them and section 32(2) and (3) of the Sale of Goods Act, 1893 will not apply.

5.2 From when the risk of loss of and damage to the Products commences to be carried by the Buyer until Sysco Ireland is paid in full for the Products, the Buyer will:

5.2.1 indemnify and keep indemnified Sysco Ireland against all losses, liabilities, claims, damages, costs or expenses suffered by Sysco Ireland or its Affiliates arising out of or connected with any loss of and damage to the Products and against any reduction in the re-sale value thereof below the price to be paid therefor by the Buyer (and for the purposes of this clause 5.2.1, any loss suffered by any of Sysco Ireland's Affiliates shall be deemed to be a loss suffered by Sysco Ireland);

5.2.2 insure and keep insured the Products in an amount at least equal to the price to be paid therefor by the Buyer; and

5.2.3 hold upon trust for Sysco Ireland absolutely all proceeds of such insurance.

5.3 For the purposes of this clause the Products shall include Equipment.

6. PRICES AND PRODUCTS

6.1 Sysco Ireland reserves the right to, at any time prior to delivery, discontinue or change the specification of any Product without prior notice.

6.2 Unless otherwise agreed in writing, all prices will be as specified in the relevant Sysco Ireland Invoice and will be exclusive of VAT and any other applicable taxes.

6.3 Sysco Ireland reserves the right at any time prior to delivery of the Products to adjust the price of any Product including, but not limited to, to take account of any increase in costs.

6.4 Unless otherwise stated, the price includes cost of delivery to the Buyer's address agreed between Sysco Ireland and the Buyer.

6.5 Any drawings, descriptions or serving suggestions contained in catalogues, brochures or sales material or on websites of any member of Sysco Ireland are produced for the sole purpose of giving an approximate idea of the Products and shall not have any contractual force.

7. TERMS OF PAYMENT

7.1 Where Sysco Ireland is satisfied with the creditworthiness of the Buyer, Sysco Ireland may at its absolute discretion grant credit to the Buyer. Where credit is granted, all payments will be made by the Buyer in accordance with the credit terms and payment terms stipulated by Sysco Ireland as amended from time to time by written notice to the Buyer. Unless otherwise stipulated, all Invoices must be settled in full without deductions within 14 days from the end of the calendar month in which the invoice was raised. Where Sysco Ireland does not grant credit to the Buyer, payment will be made to Sysco Ireland upon or before delivery of orders. Sysco Ireland reserves the right to demand the deposit of cash on account in respect of the supply of Products, as may be agreed with the Buyer from time to time.

7.2 Where credit has been granted to the Buyer, Sysco Ireland reserves the right to review the creditworthiness of the Buyer from time to time. In the event that such review reveals, in the opinion of Sysco Ireland, any deterioration in the credit worthiness of the Buyer, or in the event of the Buyer entering into an insolvency arrangement, Sysco Ireland reserves the right, without limiting any other rights or remedies it may have, to withdraw, limit or otherwise vary the credit terms offered to the Buyer.

7.3 Sysco Ireland may, at its absolute discretion, offer rebates, discounts, allowances or credits to the Buyer. Any such rebates, discounts, allowances or credits offered by Sysco Ireland are subject to, and contingent upon, compliance by the Buyer and any Affiliate of the Buyer (in respect of all Affiliated Accounts) with these Terms and Conditions, and/or any other commercial terms or payment or credit terms agreed between the Buyer and Sysco Ireland. Sysco Ireland reserves the right to withdraw any of the Buyer's or any of its Affiliates' rebates, discounts, allowances or credits (whether accrued and/or paid or otherwise) where the Buyer or any Affiliate of the Buyer fails to comply with such terms. At all times Sysco Ireland, at its absolute discretion, reserves the right to revoke or to alter the terms on which such rebates, discounts, allowances or credits are granted.

7.4 Unless otherwise agreed in writing, payment must be received in full by Sysco Ireland in respect of all Invoices within such credit and payment terms as may be agreed with Sysco Ireland from time to time. If any amount remains due and payable thereafter Sysco Ireland may charge interest on overdue payments calculated on the day-to-day balance at a rate of interest equal to the higher of the European Central Bank's main refinancing rate plus 8% or the maximum available under applicable law. Unless otherwise stated the Buyer will pay such interest on demand. The interest may be charged and added to the balance of overdue payments and thereby compounded from time to time as Sysco Ireland may determine. A statement from Sysco Ireland as to the rate of interest applicable under this paragraph will, in the absence of manifest error, be conclusive.

7.5 Sysco Ireland reserves the right to seek the recovery of all legal and associated costs incurred when securing payment of overdue debts. Failure to pay by the due date shall entitle Sysco Ireland to suspend delivery of all unexecuted or future orders.

7.6 The Buyer may not set off any sums payable by or due from Sysco Ireland to it against any sums payable by or due by it to Sysco Ireland.

7.7 Sysco Ireland may, at its sole discretion and without notice, and without limiting any other rights or remedies it may have, set off and apply any sums (or any part thereof) payable by or due by it to the Buyer from time to time in or towards the satisfaction of any liabilities or account payable by or due to it from the Buyer on any account whatsoever. The Buyer hereby agrees that such set off is good and valid discharge of such sums without the need for further permission whatsoever.

7.8 Sysco Ireland retains the right to refuse to supply Products below such minimum quantity as it may specify from time to time.

7.9 In the event that the Buyer is not registered for Irish VAT or ceases to be so registered, it must notify Sysco Ireland immediately. Any loss or damage arising from a failure to so notify Sysco Ireland will be borne by the Buyer.

7.10 Sysco Ireland will not be bound by any arithmetical or clerical error that may occur in any calculation or document issued by it and reserves the right to adjust at any time any Invoices, rebates, discounts, allowances or credits and to seek settlement of such errors with the Buyer.

7.11 Nothing in this clause (other than the provisions of clauses 7.6 and 7.7) will be taken as limiting Sysco Ireland's rights under clause 9.

8. REMEDIES FOR DAMAGE OR DEFECTS

8.1 The Buyer must, on receipt of a delivery, satisfy itself that Products received are within recommended time limits (the "Best Before Date") and are free from damage ("Damaged Products"). The Buyer will be deemed to be satisfied in this regard unless it immediately refuses to accept delivery.

8.2 The Buyer must notify Sysco Ireland within five days of discovery of any defect in the Products which gives rise to a breach of any applicable condition or warranty. The relevant products must be within their Best Before Date at the date of discovery ("Defective Products").

Classic Drinks

8.3 In respect of any Damaged Products or Defective Products Sysco Ireland shall at its sole option either repair or replace the Products or issue credit to the Buyer, provided that:-

8.3.1 the relevant Products are retained for collection by Sysco Ireland or returned to Sysco Ireland at the cost of the Buyer;

8.3.2 examination of such Products by Sysco Ireland discloses to its satisfaction that the damage or defect existed at the time of delivery and that a breach of an applicable condition or warranty has occurred and that the Products have not been affected by any act or omission of any party other than Sysco Ireland including, but not limited to, misuse, neglect, accident, improper storage, installation, handling or by repair or alteration not effected by Sysco Ireland; and

8.3.3 the Buyer will pay to Sysco Ireland the cost (as stated by Sysco Ireland) of any examination of the Products as a result of which Sysco Ireland does not admit liability.

8.4 No conditions and warranties other than those arising under section 12 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1893 (as amended) will apply in relation to any Products supplied by, but not produced by, Sysco Ireland, but Sysco Ireland will to the extent that it is able and upon Buyer's request pass to the Buyer the benefit of any guarantee, condition or warranty given to it by the relevant producer.

8.5 Sysco Ireland's liability for any claim, whether in contract, tort (including negligence) or otherwise, for any loss or damage arising out of or in connection with or resulting from the manufacture, sale, rental, delivery, re-sale, replacement or use of any of the Products and/or Equipment will in no case exceed the price paid by the Buyer to Sysco Ireland for the Products and/or Equipment (as applicable) which give rise to the claim. In no event will Sysco Ireland or any of its Affiliates be liable for any loss of profits, or special or consequential damages suffered by the Buyer or its Affiliates, including interest charges. Nothing contained in this paragraph will by implication create any liability or obligation on the part of the Sysco Ireland, or effect or diminish any disclaimer or liability elsewhere contained herein.

8.6 Except as expressly stated above, all other warranties, conditions and representations, express or implied, statutory or otherwise, in relation to the quality or fitness for any particular purpose of the Products are hereby excluded, and Sysco Ireland will not be liable in contract, tort or otherwise for any loss, damage, expense or injury of any kind whatsoever, consequential or otherwise, arising out of or in connection with the Products sold or any defect in them or from any other cause, whether or not any such matter amounts to a fundamental breach of a fundamental term of the Contract.

8.7 In any event, Sysco Ireland's liability in respect of any Product will end on the later of the relevant Product's Best Before Date or 3 months from the date of receipt of the Products by the Buyer.

8.8 The Buyer shall not reject any Products or cancel or purport to cancel the Contract or any part of it because of an alleged default unless and until Sysco Ireland has failed to correct such alleged default within thirty days of written notice specifying the default.

8.9 Nothing in this clause will be taken as in any way limiting or excluding any liability which Sysco Ireland may have to the Buyer under Section 2 of the Liability for Defective Products Act, 1991.

8.10 Nothing in these Terms and Conditions shall limit or exclude Sysco Ireland's liability for: (i) death or personal injury caused by Sysco Ireland's negligence; (ii) fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation; or (iii) any other matter in respect of which it would be unlawful for Sysco Ireland to exclude or limit liability, including under Section 2 of the Liability for Defective Products Act 1991.

8.11 Subject to 8.10, Sysco Ireland shall not be liable for any losses, expenses, claims or damages suffered or incurred by the Buyer (or any third party) to the extent they arise as a consequence of any damage or defect in a Product which was caused by its unsatisfactory storage, treatment or handling (other than by Sysco Ireland or its representatives) or any act or omission on the part of the Buyer or its employees, agents or representatives.

8.12 The Buyer shall ensure that no Product it purchases from Sysco Ireland is sold (or otherwise distributed) after any 'best-before' or 'use-by' dates included on the Products or their packaging. To the extent any Product is sold (or otherwise distributed) by the Buyer after any such date, it shall be at the Buyer's sole risk, and the Buyer shall indemnify and hold Sysco Ireland harmless against any losses, claims, expenses or damages it incurs howsoever relating to the same.

9. DEFAULT OF BUYER

9.1 If the Buyer or any Affiliate of the Buyer:

9.1.1 fails to comply with these Terms and Conditions (including stipulations as to payment); or

9.1.2 commits an act of bankruptcy, makes an arrangement or composition with creditors or suffers any distress or execution; or

9.1.3 resolves or is ordered to be wound up or has a liquidator, receiver or examiner (or any equivalent officer) appointed; or

9.1.4 sells or stores the Products in a manner which is unacceptable to Sysco Ireland, as notified to the Buyer from time to time; or

9.1.5 is in arrears on any account with Sysco Ireland or any of Sysco Ireland's Affiliates; or

9.1.6 does anything which does, or has the capacity (in Sysco Ireland's opinion) to undermine or damage Sysco Ireland's reputation and/or brand and/or intellectual property rights; or

9.1.7 undergoes a change of control; or

9.1.8 Sysco Ireland reasonably apprehends that any event which is analogous with the above mentioned is occurring or is about to occur in respect of the Buyer or any Affiliate of the Buyer, then, in any such event, Sysco Ireland will have the right (without further liability to the Buyer and without prejudice to any other remedies) to

(a) cancel (in whole or in part) any uncompleted order; and/or (b) withhold or suspend (in whole or in part) delivery of further Products; and/or (c) demand payment immediately of all sums due by the Buyer to any member of the Sysco Ireland group; and/or (d) recover from the Buyer damages for any loss or damage suffered by any member of the Sysco Ireland group arising directly or indirectly from the breach; and/or (e) retake possession of any Products and/or Equipment and for that purpose to go onto any premises occupied by the Buyer or any Affiliate of the Buyer; and/or (f) withhold payment and/or cancel any entitlements to any rebates, discount allowances or credits (or anything analogous thereto) which are accrued but unpaid on that date; and/or (g) cancel any and all future rights of the Buyer or an Affiliate of the Buyer to such rebates, discounts, allowances or credits or other like benefit; and/or (h) cancel any current and/or future credit arrangements with the Buyer or an Affiliate of the Buyer.

9.2 In the event that Sysco Ireland exercises any rights it may have to stop Products in transit or to seize Products, Sysco Ireland may at its option resell such Products at public or private sale without notice to the Buyer and without affecting Sysco Ireland's rights to hold the Buyer liable for any loss or damage caused by breach of Contract by the Buyer

10. ALTERNATIVE AND SUPPLEMENTARY TERMS

Sysco Ireland may at any time alter or supplement these Terms and Conditions, the most up to date version of which will be published on its website.
